INTRODUCTION

The Jo Conn Guild Collection of Tennessee Electric Power Company Records (1933-1939) was prepared by Jo Conn Guild (1888-?), President of Tennessee Electric Power Company, Chattanooga as a record of his company's legal challenge of the Congressional act creating the Tennessee Valley Authority. Included are legal documents from all three levels of federal courts and the final decision from the Supreme Court of the United States which upheld the TVA act, and resulted in the sale of the electric company's properties.

The materials in this finding aid measures 107.52 linear feet. There are no restrictions on the materials. Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Jo Conn Guild Collection of Tennessee Electric Power Company Records may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Jo Conn Guild Collection of Tennessee Electric Power Company (TEPCO) Records, containing approximately 79, 800 items, spans the period of 1933-1939. The collection is composed of clippings, financial data, legal documents, and special categories.

Jo Conn Guild (1888-?), as President of the Tennessee Electric Power Company, Chattanooga, Tennessee, created this collection as a record of his company's legal challenge of the constitutionality of the creation by Congress of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

TEPCO was a division of Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, a public utility concern which at the time was headed by the late Wendell Willkie, who was a candidate for the U. S. Presidency in 1940.

Included is data on TEPCO's hydro and steam electric generating plants, distribution system, special equipment, financial affairs, flood control in the Tennessee Valley and other parts of the U. S., personnel information, legal records, rural electrification beginnings in southeastern Tennessee, early reports of the Tennessee Valley Authority and congressional hearings on flood control and public power.

In the 1930's, the Tennessee Valley was the platform for the dispute between private and public power and the Guild collections includes both the legal and newspaper items covering the period ending in 1939, when the TEPCO properties were sold to municipalities and rural electric cooperatives.

Almost half of the collection is newspaper clippings which are collected by counties and cities and subjects, making possible the recovery of week to week developments in various communities.

The legal section includes transcripts of testimony in the original trial in U. S. District Court in Chattanooga, the appeal hearing in the U. S. Court of Appeals, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the final hearing before the Supreme Court of the U. S. in Washington, D. C.
